

THE SCHOOLS ATTUNED® PROGRAM at
The Children's Health Council
Located on the Stanford University Campus
A Schools Attuned® Professional Development Provider

The Schools Attuned® Program prepares education professionals to meet the diverse learning needs of all students in the classroom. Offered by All Kinds of Minds, this groundbreaking 35-hour professional development program for K-12 educators helps teachers understand, identify, and address learning differences in the classroom.

Participants register for one of “two” paths, Generalist or Subject Specialist (SSP). Typically, the Generalist path is appropriate for teachers in K-8 teaching multiple subjects. The Subject Specialist path is appropriate for middle or high school educators in focused content area.

We can also set up course dates at your school. Please call for additional information.

Included in the course:

- 35-hour Schools Attuned® core course and all program materials
- 10 hours of follow-on “In-Practice” that is completed within a year of finishing the course, which includes a flexible menu of course modules to match your school goals and areas of interest
- Thousands of strategies to help your students
- Participation in a Networked Learning Community of more than 40,000 Schools Attuned® alumni
- In conjunction with UC Santa Cruz, 3.5 Continuing Education Units are available after the completion of the 35-hour Schools Attuned® course. The fee of $260 is payable directly to UC Santa Cruz Extension. We handle the paperwork. This fee is in addition to the Schools Attuned® course tuition fee.

Investment: $1,500 per participant for the 35-hour core course and the 10 hours of “In Practice” and all course material. If you are an educator working in Santa Clara County, you are able to take the course at a greatly reduced rate because of a generous grant from THE HEALTH TRUST.
